Agora Publishing House
Sibiu, Romania, 2018

This album displays instant photographs taken in Pakistan, during a two-week scientific visit to the Department of Mathematics of the COMSATS Information Technology Institute in Abbottabad, where I was invited in December 2017 to lecture on neutrosophic topics to professors and PhD students.

The title of this photoalbum combines metaphorically the country name with the verb nibble, meaning, according to Cambridge Dictionary, to eat something by taking a lot of small bites; to bite something gently and repeatedly.
